"We Will Ensure Our Education Certificates Bring Value" - FG

he Honourable Minister of Education, Professor Tahir Mamman, SAN, has received the Education Roadmap designed to address the problems in the sector and pledged to ensure that basic, secondary and tertiary education certificates are valued.

The Minister, who stated this recently, while receiving the report on the Education Roadmap from the Committee members in Abuja, expressed concern that Nigeria had not been able to achieve what it was supposed to achieve in the last three years.

"I am very angry about that. Some of us have benefited from what is good and now we have been countering what is bad.

Now that we have this opportunity there is no reason why we cannot translate this into something very positive to achieve what we have been crying and yearning for all these years," he said.

The Minister decried the failure to achieve previous roadmaps, saying, "a lot of roadmaps had come and gone but this is not followed and where necessary, abridged.

Obaseki Offers Automatic Employment to 12 First Class Graduates of Edo Varsity

he Edo State Governor, Mr. Godwin Obaseki, has offered automatic employment to 12 First Class graduating students of the Edo State University, Uzairue.

The Governor, at the University's fifth convocation ceremony in Etsako West Local Government Area of the State, reaffirmed his government's commitment to building quality manpower to sustain the ongoing reforms in the State's civil and public service to drive development in the State.

He said, "as usual, all those 12 students that made a first class in this set have automatic employment into Edo State Civil Service; your job is waiting for you.

"We have made it a standard that any graduate from any of our universities in Edo State who makes a first class should be given automatic employment in our public and civil service.

We want to build quality manpower."

The Visitor to the University

This academic year has been challenging but we are, today, celebrating the first set of our nine doctorate degree students.

His Excellency, Mr. Godwin Obaseki

further explained that " as we mark the fifth convocation, the institution has continued to blaze the trail in teaching and research in Nigeria.

"The university has played an indispensable role in shaping the academic and personal growth of all of you who have graduated today. This university has nurtured your mind and infused values of critical thinking, and integrity and has propelled you to become responsible citizens of our State and country."

"It is not just celebrating your individual successes but also about acknowledging the responsibilities that come with the knowledge that you have acquired.

The knowledge and education we have given you is to enable you to navigate the very difficult but inspirational times ahead of vou."

Commending the Governor's sustained investment in the education sector, the Vice Chancellor of the University, Professor Engr. Emmanuel Aluyor, linked the successes recorded in the Institution to the Governor, who is the Visitor of the University.

Earlier in his message, the Chancellor of the University and Chairman of the occasion, Professor Emeritus Thomas Okpo K. Audu lauded the Governor for creating an enabling environment and the needed support for the institution to thrive.

The Convocation was attended by dignitaries from all Spares of human endeavour which included prominent personalities of the State, VC's from other universities, parents/guardians of the graduands and well wishers.

Idahosa Varsity Partners Tech Institution on Research

he Benson Idahosa University (BIU) has collaborated with an international technological institution, Montana Technological University to reshape the future of education and research.

The partnership between the institutions, according to Idahosa University, would translate to array of benefits, especially for the Nursing and Engineering students and Faculties.

The statement read in part, "This partnership will signify a commitment to foster innovation, knowledge exchange, and global perspectives for the students and faculties of both institutions, leveraging each other's strengths to elevate the educational experience for the BIU community.

"The partnership ushers in an era of cutting-edge learning, particularly for the Nursing students.

By gaining exposure to advanced technologies not commonly accessible in Nigeria, they will be uniquely positioned to study and combat diseases on a broader spectrum.

The Engineering students also stand to gain immensely from Montana University's expertise in mining technology and artificial intelligence.

platforms for research and development, and boost the international recognition of the two institutions.

"In the spirit of collaboration,

Prof. Sam Guobadia Vice - Chancellor, Benson Idahosa University

"This partnership is poised to revolutionize their academic journey, equipping them with unparalleled knowledge and insights that will not only benefit them but also ripple through the academic community."

The statement also revealed that the partnership would enable a collaborative research venture, create new the students can now extend their educational reach far beyond Nigeria's borders, delving into a world of international research opportunities, broadening their horizons, and nurturing a global perspective."

CBN, Varsity Partner on eNaira

he Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) has partnered with Benson Idahosa University, Benin, Edo State, to deepen adoption of eNaira, as a payment system and medium of exchange.

Branch Controller, CBN, Benin, Michael Mbeze, stated this during a three-day training of students of the Institution on the application of eNaira.

Mbeze said that the eNaira, just like the physical Naira, was also an official legal tender of the Federal Republic of Nigeria and a direct liability of the CBN, hoping that it would provide a platform to drive the digital economy of the country.

He said, "The CBN believes the eNaira will make a positive difference to Nigeria and Nigerians, including improving the availability and usability of money, supporting a resilient payment system ecosystem, encouraging financial inclusion, reducing the cost of processing cash, increasing revenue and tax collection; and facilitate diaspora remittances.

"The CBN desires to partner with key stakeholders like institutions of higher learning such as Benson Idahosa University and other members of the public to deepen the adoption of the eNaira both as a payment system and a medium of exchange and transaction settlement."

In his remarks, one of the trainers, Mr. Nwankpa Izuchukwu, said that the CBN was trying to start an eco-system using the youths to drive and He noted that the training would make it easier for the students to create awareness since they lived within the eco-system, adding that it was faster and cheaper to use students as ambassadors to drive the policy.

Responding, the Acting Vice Chancellor of the University, Professor Johnson Ovedeii, said BIU was ready to support policies that would grow the nation financially and benefit Nigerians.

He said that the eNaira policy of the CBN must have been well thought out and should be efficiently implemented for the benefit of the society.

'Nigeria Produced 38 Female Vice Chancellors Out of 760 in 60 Years' - CVC

he Secretary-General of the Committee of Vice Chancellors of Nigerian Universities (CVCNU), Professor Yakubu Ochefu, has disclosed that over 720 individuals have held the position of Vice Chancellor in the Nigeria University System (NUS) since 1960, out of which 38 were women.

Professor Ochefu, who disclosed this recently in Abuja at a briefing to herald the commemoration of the 60 year anniversary of the Committee, said although a number of them were deceased, many were serving in various universities across the country.

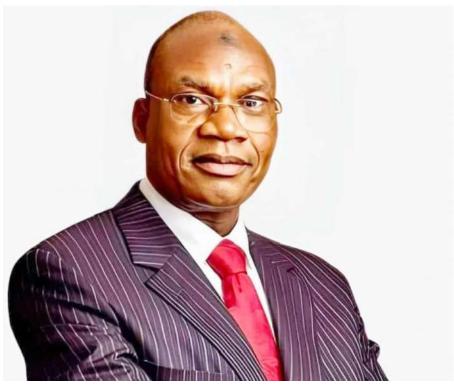

He said the Committee, which held its first meeting in 1962, comprised of Vice-Chancellors of Federal. State and Private universities in Nigeria had clocked 60 years of its existence.

Mr. Chris J. Maiyaki Acting Executive Secretary, NUC

He noted that the Committee had been working very quietly in the background towards improving the university system.

Professor Ochefu said the major

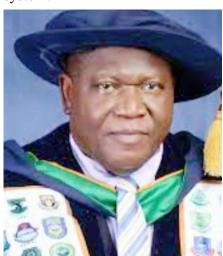

Professor Tahir Mamman, SAN, OON Honourable Minister of Education

initiatives of policies the education system had today were from the meetings and inputs of the CVC, such as harmonisation of academic calendar, National Youth Service Corps (NYSC), Joint Admissions and Matriculation Board (JAMB), improving the welfare of the university staff, predatory journals to promote good practices in the university system, and the minimum academic benchmark and core curriculum of the university.

The CVCNU Secretary General further said that the university system went through so many challenges, ranging from funding and access, but was able to overcome some of them.

He said, celebrating 60 years was a milestone achievement as water had passed through the bridges but was able to continue serving its purpose inspite of the challenges.

The Sec. Gen. reiterated the commitment and resilience of his committee in their continued effort to sustain the tempo and perform their advisory role in upscaling the system.
